Life sentence meted after guilty verdict in Toca death trial

By DENA BISNETTE

Circuit Court Judge James Thomas Wednesday night sentenced Eugene Bertrand Willis, 20, of Pasadena, Texas to life in prison in connection with the stabbing death of Rene Toca of Springwood Park.

The sentence from the bench followed a jury announcement that members were unable to agree on a death sentence for Willis.

The jury earlier Wednesday evening, after some five minutes deliberation, found Willis guilty of capital murder in the death of Toca earlier this year.

The verdict followed a three-day trial in Hancock County Circuit Court in Bay St. Louis.

Toca's body was discovered March 17 in a bedroom in his residence, but authorities said the man, who was 62, probably died on March 14.

He had suffered multiple stab wounds but the cause of death was apparently a stab wound to the neck.

Willis reportedly fled in Toca's car to Texas, where he was arrested in Pasadena March 19 and was extradited to Mississippi.

He had been wanted in Texas on a burglary charge and had been in Hancock County only about two weeks before Toca's death.

Building code killed

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County voters turned thumbs down on a building code Tuesday, with only six southern precincts showing any approval for the referendum.

The total vote against the code was 2,359. The proposal received 1,373 yes votes.

The margins in most precincts where the code passed were small. The totals in those precincts, with yes votes listed first, included Lakeshore, 216 to 197; Clermont Harbor, 64 to 50; West Shoreline Park, 73 to 49; and Courthouse, 32 to 29.

The two exceptions were Diamondhead and Edwardsville, where the margins were larger. In Diamondhead, the code passed 385 to 43, and in Edwardsville it passed 137 to 86.

One of the two county school board races was decided in the primary Tuesday, but the other will require on a run-off in two weeks.

In Beat One, Frank J. Miller received 2,045 votes to defeat Archie Courtright, who received 978 votes.

In Beat Two, incumbent Monvel J. Cuevas and challenger Barbara Dedeaux will enter a run-off. Cuevas had 847 votes while Dedeaux received 792.

Eliminated from the Beat Two race were former school board member Woodrow Ladner with 556 votes and newcomers David M. Hamilton with 460 and Tangie Smith with 334.

Barbara Frierson, who has been serving as Justice Court Judge in the county's west district since the death of her husband, Judge Horatio Frierson Jr., was elected to the post Tuesday with 2,164. Her opponents, J.D. "Tony" Miller and Al Arnold, received 461 and 406 votes, respectively.

In the only state election on the ballot, Hancock Countian J. Robbie Griffin received 5,073 votes for Mississippi Supreme Court Justice Justice.

In the Fifth District Congressional race, Hancock County voted with the remainder of the district, re-electing incumbent Trent Lott with 4,732 votes.

Lott will be serving his eighth term.

His opponent, Larry Albritton, received 1,386 votes in Hancock County.

Hancock Countians approved four out of five proposed amendments to the state constitution, going against the state majority by defeating one amendment that passed elsewhere.

The amendment Hancock County voters were against allows the State Treasurer to succeed himself but contains no limitation on the number of terms that official may serve.

The Hancock vote against the amendment totalled 2,904 while the yes vote was 2,528.

An amendment establishing an educational trust fund received 3,836 yes votes to 833 no votes.

The margin was also wide on an amendment establishing a state employees' retirement trust, with 4,483 voters approving and 1,334 voting no.

While local voters apparently did not like the idea of the State Treasurer succeeding himself, they showed that they do not mind if the governor does so as long as he is limited to two terms.

The vote of approval for gubernatorial succession was 3,988 in Hancock County, with 1,841 voters against the amendment.

A fifth amendment extending some types of 18th Section land leases received 3,314 yes votes and 2,031 no votes.

According to Hancock County Election Commission Secretary Charles Gottschalk, returns were still unofficial by Sea Coast Echo press deadlines and are scheduled to be certified today.

Waveland reelects incumbents

BY DENA BISNETTE

Waveland has the same elected officials as before Tuesday's primary, with the exception of some new members of the city's Democratic Executive Committee.

Only Ward One Alderman Barbara Rappold and Ward Four Alderman Herman Yarborough had opposition, but both were re-elected.

Rappold had two opponents, teacher Woody Pearce and Hancock County Justice Court Clerk Rhonda A. Patton. Yarborough was opposed by Shirley Cox.

Rappold had 106 votes in her bid for a third term, leading by a margin too large to require a run-off election. Patton followed with 47 votes and Pearce received 38 votes.

Yarborough received a total of 373 votes over 68 votes for Cox, winning his third consecutive term and his fourth overall.

Mayor John Longo Jr., chalked up his eighth election victory and his fifth term as mayor Tuesday with 978 votes despite lack of an opponent.

He received 210 votes in Ward One, 198 in Ward Two, 236 in Ward Three and 302 in Ward Four.

Unopposed Ward Two Alderman Bob Hubbard proved more popular than Longo, receiving 146 votes to the mayor's 138 in that ward.

Ward Three Alderman Louis Sustaksky received 248 votes and a third term.

"We have a good team here," Longo said. "It is nice to know the people chose to keep us together."

With Sustaksky's votes were being counted, the electric ballot counter malfunctioned and a substitute machine had to be borrowed from the Hancock County Election Commission. Despite the delay, the counting was completed a little more than one hour after the polls closed at 8 p.m.

In the Democratic Executive Committee election, voters were asked to select five of the six candidates.

Leading the votes was Dolores Richmond with 661, followed by Milton C. Bernard with 606, Beverly Zimmerman with 674, Ruth Miller with 446 and Jay Flewelling with 366. Clarence Harris, the sixth candidate, received 161 votes.

The general election for Waveland will be Tuesday, Dec. 2.

Fund established

Pearlington family loses home, clothing in fire

By ELLIS CUEVAS

An Annie Mae Lewis benefit fund has been established at Hancock Bank in Bay St. Louis.

Geraldine Lang, president of the Concerned Citizens Organization of Hancock County said, "The reason for establishing the benefit fund, is because Mrs. Lewis lost her home and possessions in a fire last Saturday.

"The fire completely destroyed her Pearlington residence and she is now having to reside with relatives," Lang added.

Firefighters from West Hancock and BaySide Park Volunteer Fire Departments responded to the Saturday morning fire.

Flames were reported coming through the roof when they arrived at the scene.

Mayola Haynes, a daughter of Mrs. Lewis, said her mother is disabled because of a car accident, and her mother did not carry any type of insurance to cover her losses.

Persons wishing to make a monetary contribution, can make it payable to the Anna Mae Lewis benefit fund, and send it to any Hancock Bank branch, Account Number 03 7084 329.

Mrs. Lewis is also in need of furniture, clothing for herself, a 17-year-old daughter, and also grandchildren ages two, four, and eight, who were residing with her.

Further information can be obtained by calling 467-4715 or 533-7660.

"It is hoped the community's residents will be able to help Mrs. Lewis and her family in her time of crisis," Lang responded.

Lang recalls several years ago, when an elderly couple residing in Bay St. Louis had their home rot away, and the citizens rallied to construct a new residence for them, and hopes possibly the same can be done for Mrs. Lewis and her family.

Board delays architect selection

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Board has delayed selection of an architect for a long-range building program.

Board President Betty Diboll asked for the delay at a special meeting Monday and said board members expect to make the selection during the next regular meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday.

She said she had requested the one-week delay "because some of the architects left questions unanswered, and because they gave us printed material I feel board members should have time to study."

In addition, she said she would like to give an absent board member, Cyril Glover, an opportunity to participate in the selection. Glover was unable to attend the special meeting due to illness of a family member.

At the special meeting, representatives of three architectural firms met with the board in the Bay Senior High School Library.

The architects included Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis, and two Biloxi firms, Compton and Bolton and Fountain and Lamas.

The three firms had been selected from a field of 14 that made presentations to the board at an earlier meeting.

Also meeting with the board Monday was Jesse Cannon of Cannon Engineering, and Bay St. Louis Architect Michael Reeves.

Cannon works with both Compton and Bolton and Fountain and Lamas as an electrical and mechanical consultant and assisted in presentations by both firms.

Reeves, who had been one of the 11 architects eliminated when the three finalists were chosen, assisted in the presentation by Fountain and Lamas.

According to Buddy Fountain, Reeves will be available to assist Fountain and Lamas in preparing a bond issue, because a local architect will be needed any problems that arise and because Fountain feels a bond issue has a better chance of passing if at least one of the architects involved is local.

Board Attorney Lucien Gex said the district will have to use a bond issue to finance a long-term building program.

However, recent legislation waives some of the usual election procedures involved in passing a bond issue if the district completes the matter before July 1, 1987.

Normally, a bond issue requires an election and must have 60 percent of the total vote to pass, Gex said.

The legislation has allowed school bond issues without an election between July 1, 1986 and July 1, 1987.

Christmas Seal Campaign opens

"More than 40 million homes across the United States are now receiving their 1986 Christmas Seals in the mail," Mrs. Elda Duke of Waveland, chairman of the Hancock County Chapter, Mississippi Lung Association, said today.

"What began 73 years ago as an attempt to save one small tuberculosis hospital has grown into a holiday tradition as widespread as gifts under the tree," Duke said. "The Christmas Seal Campaign represents the spirit of giving and helping others, as well as the Mississippi Lung Association's dedication to eliminating such diseases as lung cancer, asthma, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and tuberculosis."

Lung disease is an ever-growing problem in America. It is the only major disease category in which death rates continue to rise,

Under the special procedure, the board must advertise its intent to use a bond issue and unless 15 percent or 1,500 registered voters, whichever is less, petition against the bond issue, it may pass without an election.

If the required number of voters protest, an election must be held, Gex said.

The district's bonding capacity has been tentatively estimated at $4 million to $5 million, Superintendent of Education Roger Oge' told the board.

If the district is unable to meet the entire cost of the building program by using a bond issue, the additional funding will have to be borrowed, Gex said.

Exactly how much funding is needed for the bond issue has not yet been determined. According to Oge', a survey assessing the district's needs is in progress and is expected to be completed within two weeks.

That survey will help determine how many new facilities will be needed and how many existing ones will need additions or renovations.

Gov. Bill Allain

News From The Governor's Office

The last week in October brought us good news in one area and hopeful news in two fields of concern.

First the good news. We learned that Mississippi, after two months with the highest unemployment rate in the nation, dropped to third in unemployment. Our unemployment rate dropped to 11.2 percent for September, following Louisiana with 12.3 percent and West Virginia with 11.6 percent.

Granted, this is nothing to brag about, but it does mean that we are making some progress in finding jobs for people in our state who want to work. In fact, since I became your Governor, we have created more than 60,000 new jobs in Mississippi.

Another piece of good news on the economic development front was a report from the U.S. Commerce Department stating that Mississippians experienced the highest gain in personal income of any state in the Southeast during the spring. While the national rise in personal income was 1.4 percent from April through June, we in Mississippi experienced a gain of 2.2 percent. The next closest Southeastern state was Florida, with a gain of 1.6 percent.

Mississippians still have a lower-than-desired average income, but these figures indicate that we are making faster progress on raising that figure than most states.

Reports such as these offer us great hope about the future of our state. In addition, I hosted two conferences this week that also reinforced that hopefulness.

The Governor's Conference on Education involved some 400 Mississippians from elementary and secondary education, higher education, public and private schools, businesses, government and the private sector. Our consensus at the conference was that Mississippi has made great strides in education since the passage of the Education Reform Act in 1982, but that we must look beyond those programs tomorrow to continue the progress.

I presented the recently released report by the National Governors' Association on education, which concludes that the future of education reform rests with local communities and leadership. The varied participation we got in our conference indicated to me that the cooperation necessary for future progress exists in most Mississippi communities.

In addition, I also hosted the Governor's Conference on Infant Mortality, which was attended by some 300 Mississippians. Again, we saw a diverse group of people come together to seek solutions to the problem of sick and dying babies in our state. Also again, we are making progress in this field, with our infant mortality rate dropping some 5 percent in the past year.

Participants in both conferences came away with a renewed commitment to work even harder to solve these vital problems. These two conferences, combined with the two employment reports, are indicators that we must look at our problems in Mississippi in an overall context. We cannot afford tunnel vision. Improving our quality of life for everyone is the bottom line. Likewise, those among us who can help find the solutions to all our problems must work very hard to help those among us who need that those solutions immediately. Together we can grow and progress.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

Sons connected with the lynching are still alive.

I have no doubt that "Blood Justice" will become a movie, either on TV or a full scale theatre film. A lot of Americans will think it is fiction because the actual facts of the case seem so incredible, having happened just a quarter of a century ago.

From the standpoint of a journalist, I am glad that Smead pursued the perseverance of Cliff Sessions, then of UPI's Jackson bureau. Sessions was the only reporter still on the scene when Parker's body, with several bullet holes, was found in the river.

Two weeks later, Parker's body was found in the swollen waters of Pearl River, on the Louisiana side.

After one of the most massive investigations ever conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation until that time, the FBI publicly said it had cracked the case and turned its evidence over to the state. No one was ever indicted or convicted in connection with the crime.

In fact, the state judge who would have presided over their trials if they had been indicted, remarked publicly three years later that of those responsible for the lynching, "two have already died."

All of this, of course, is the kind of history from a dark past in Mississippi that many people would prefer to forget, or not see haulled out to the public view. They have a point, particularly if redemptive powers have been at work in the meantime and produced positive changes in those who condoned what took place.

But it was inevitable that some day the bizarre events surrounding the Parker lynching would be made public since voluminous investigative reports existed in the files of the FBI, detailing that whole sordid bit of history.

Moreso, the Parker lynching story was remarkably unknown nationally because it came before the penetrating eye of national television became focused on major civil rights incidents.

What is surprising, however, is that an academician, Dr. Howard Smead, of the University of Maryland, was the one to put it together in a book. Smead, this column pointed out over two years ago, had written his doctoral dissertation on the Parker case, after spending four and a half years researching it.

Smead must be given credit for having hounded the FBI, or some of its agents, into making available to him portions of the investigation containing names and other details that have never before been revealed.

It was obvious to this writer when I first read Smead's doctoral manuscript in early 1984 that it was a more explosive story than you can find in best-selling novels, proving once again that truth is stranger than fiction.

Perhaps I was somewhat envious of Smead's work, since as a reporter I had covered the Parker lynching story, but I was never satisfied with what I was able to report.

I could not get my hands on the real meat of the story and my job didn't permit spending the time it would have taken to document a myriad of details.

So now Smead has found a publisher, Oxford University Press, with the courage to bring out the book, while at least one or two per-dicted or none should be charged.

That grand jury, made up of some South Mississippians who felt moral outrage over the lynching, had come surprisingly close to bringing back indictments.

This was learned only by the enterprise of Sessions, who slipped into the grand jury room after its deliberations and emptied the contents of the wastebasket into his briefcase.

From voting slips he found in the trash, Sessions discovered that the jury by only one vote had failed to indict seven men under federal law violations.

When it was over, Ridwell Adam, the colorful one-time Mississippi lieutenant governor, and then a Gulfport attorney who had volunteered to represent the lynching suspects, declared: "Thank God justice was served."

Again, Smead recognized that Sessions, the one Mississippi reporter who doggedly hung with the story, showed some of the ingenuity of old time journalism as the case ran its course.

After a state grand jury in Poplarville had not even considered the FBI evidence, the scene shifted to Biloxi and a federal grand jury presided over by U.S. District Judge Sydney Mize.

Mize severely limited any federal prosecution by restricting the jury only to the consideration of federal kidnapping violations, and ordering that all suspects would have to be in-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Cemetery cleaners commended

Dear Sir,

Since St. Mary's cemetery is the resting place of my husband's family, we both wish to express our "Thanks" to the Knights of Columbus Pere Le Duc Council, Dr. Sidney Chevis, his family and staff for a job well done.

The cemetery cleanup program in conjunction with the celebration of All Saints on Saturday deserved a lot of praise.

Obsolete building comes down but outdated speed limit signs remain up

We'll do the cleaning up job for him. Anything to make that spot look better.

As for the new speed limit in Bay St. Louis - good show! At least there is one uniform speed limit in the city. But I wonder what would happen if a visitor went driving down Beach Boulevard at 35 m.p.h. and was stopped by one of our policemen.

How is he going to explain that the speed limit is 35 m.p.h. despite the fact that the 30 m.p.h. signs are still posted?

A building on Highway 90 can be knocked down, why can't the old, now obsolete signs be removed? If the person involved would like to send me a hundred bucks...

This is the final week of regularly scheduled games in local high school football.

It will only be proper in the start of this week's column to comment on the Bay High-Hancock North Central game of last Friday night, as it has been the talk of the county.

The coaching staff and players of both schools should be commended for their superb sportsmanship during the game.

As we mentioned last week, fans should have left early to get a good seat; some headed for the game early, got caught in traffic jams, and found standing room only.

It was the largest crowd ever to attend a football game in Bay High's stadium.

Prior to the game, the facility was dedicated to J.D. McCullough, former school superintendent, and it was a great night to have such a ceremony.

The Tigers and Hawks going into the game were so evenly matched, with the Tigers losing only the season's opener by two points, and Hancock undefeated.

The outcome was decided by only two points in favor of Bay High in a game, as one fan told me, 'both teams should have been a winner.'

Congratulations are offered to both Bay High and Hancock North Central players for a great performance.

This week the Tigers of Bay High will be visiting the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws.

The Tigers will be trying to keep their string of victories intact, in addition of being the county champs, while on the other hand, the Rocks are hungry for another victory.

Stanislaus' young team would like to pull a surprise over the Tigers, and could possibly do it, if Bay High is caught napping.

Rock-A-Chaw stadium should be filled with Tiger and Rock supporters.

The Hawks of Hancock North Central will travel to d'Iberville in a District 4-A conference championship game with the Warriors.

It will be a veteran Head Coach Irvin Favre's eleven against a senior veteran Head Coach Buddy Singleton's squad.

Hancock has a lot riding on the game against d'Iberville. If the Hawks beat the Warriors, they will host the South State 4-A championship next Friday night at Hancock stadium.

Hancock has received very good fan support all season, and it is hoped there will be many Hawk fans giving them the support they need to be victorious.

The Pirates of Pass Christian will host arch rival Long Beach on Friday.

The Pirates have won two games in a row, but will have a tough assignment against the big Bearcats.

The Pirates have looked very good this season, especially in the season's opener against d'Iberville.

We hope to see you at the games tomorrow night.

We enjoyed a visit last week by Susan Irby of Washington, D.C.

Susan was The Sea Coast Echo's bureau chief for the Long Beach-Pass Christian edition in the early 1970's.

Susan is U.S. Congressman Trent Lott's press secretary in the nation's Capital, and it has been several years since we have seen her.

The last time we visited each other was at a Mississippi Press Association meeting in Biloxi. Of course, we chat on the telephone quite frequently.

Keep up the good job, Susan.

Hostage negotiator Terry Waite is UM ODK-Mortar Board speaker

Terry Waite, consultant and adviser to the Archbishop of Canterbury and well-known hostage negotiator, will serve as the first speaker for the 1986-87 Omicron Delta Kappa/Mortar Board Speakers Forum at The University of Mississippi.

Waite continues this week in West Germany to work for the release of additional American hostages from Lebanon after successfully negotiating the freeing of David Jacobsen in Beirut Sunday.

Waite's speech, scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 10, will be followed by a period for questions from the audience. The program is free and open to the public.

Educated in Wimslow and Stockton Heath, Cheshire, and at the Church Army College in London, Waite first served the Anglican Church in Great Britain as lay adviser to the Bishop of Bristol. In 1968, Waite traveled to Africa as adviser to the first African Archbishop of the Province of Uganda, Ruanda and Burundi.

From 1969-71, he served as coordinator of the Southern Sudan Relief Project, and in 1972 he went to Italy as international consultant on missionary and development work for the Roman Catholic Church.

In this capacity he acquired a wide working knowledge of conditions in Third World countries and remained in Rome until 1979 when he returned to England as secretary to the Archbishop of Canterbury for Anglican Communion Affairs.

Waite became a familiar figure to the public during the concentrated media coverage of his mission to Iran in 1981, as envoy of the Archbishop of Canterbury, to seek the release of a small group of Anglican missionaries.

Because of his success, Waite was sent to Libya in 1984 on a similar mission. He was again successful, gaining the release of four British men held hostage by that regime.

He is currently involved in negotiations to secure the release of additional hostages held in Lebanon.

For more information on Waite's appearance at Ole Miss, contact the Ole Miss Office of Student Services, telephone (662) 232-5313.

SSC intramural program progress reported

The St. Stanislaus Intramural Program has been underway since the early weeks of the school year. First on the list is Intramural Football among the high school classes.

The league is broken down into two divisions: the Senior Division, which includes all 11th and 12th grade homerooms; and the Junior Division, which covers all 9th and 10th grade homerooms.

In a competitive schedule involving five Senior Division teams, Bill Franklin's homeroom (MB) has gone through their schedule undefeated, and has been crowned champions of the Senior Division.

Awards for winning the division include individual trophies, along with a free dinner for all team members at Pizza Hut.

The Junior Division among 9th and 10th graders has entered into their second round, with Mr. Bill Jennings' 9B homeroom winning the initial round with a 5-0 record.

The second round in the Junior Division is in progress now, with several teams undefeated at this point. A league champion will be crowned early next week.

All high school classes are now in the process of signing up to play Intramural Soccer. Last year, 164 boys participated in the high school division. A 14-game schedule has been arranged whereby each homeroom will play the other homerooms in their division twice.

Planned for later in the year are Intramural Basketball, Intramural Softball, an Intramural Track Meet and an Intramural Swim Meet.

Raiders to entertain Episcopal 5th, 6th graders

The Coast Episcopal High School Student Council and Raider football team and cheerleaders have planned a special afternoon Friday.

The Raiders will host the Stewart Street Conquerors of Milton, Fla., and the Student Council has invited the fifth and sixth grade students from Coast Episcopal Elementary School in Bay St. Louis to be guests at the game.

In their first meeting, the Raiders defeated the Conquerors 47-6. This will be the Raiders' last game of the 1986 season, and they hope to end it with another big win. Coach Terry Mahan said the team made great improvement during the season and should be able to contain the Conquerors.

All alumni, parents, and friends of Coast Episcopal School are invited to join the student body for a fun afternoon. Kick-off time is set for 1:30 p.m. on the CEHS Raider football field on Espy Ave. in Pass Christian. The pep rally will start at 1 p.m. and lunch will be served starting at noon.

Dynamite wins season opener

Dynamite, the Bay Area Youth Soccer Girls Under-14 team sponsored by Coast Urological Associates, defeated the Slidell Herracanes 3-2 on Saturday.

Kim Weinstein scored first on a penalty kick which resulted from a tripping call within the penalty area.

Kristy Heitzmann scored the other two goals which put Dynamite ahead.

Dynamite, who lost to the Heracanes 3-0 on Oct. 11, considers Saturday's victory a sign of continued improvement, according to coach Kathy Edwards.

At the end of the match, a retired professional soccer player from Britain came over to commend team members on their 'excellence of play.'

County receives sanctuary request

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has received another request for a bird and game sanctuary.

Several residents of the West Cedar Point area appeared before the board Monday to find out what procedures must be completed in order to establish a sanctuary.

Anyone wishing to establish a sanctuary must first provide the board with a legal description of the boundaries for the proposed sanctuary, Board President A.A. Kellar said.

The board then sets a public hearing and advertises that hearing for 30 days.

Richard McCallough, a Dogwood Road resident who served as spokesman for the group addressing the board, said they want a sanctuary because they are concerned about shooting that takes place near a populated area.

In addition, a wounded American Egret, a bird on the protected species list, was found in the West Cedar Point area, McCallough said.

The bird had apparently been wounded in a wing and leg by a gun shot and had been turned over to Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans, La., for intensive care. However, the bird died Sunday, according to Letitia Stribling, a Cedar Point resident who is a member of Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society.

The board is expected to accept a legal description of boundaries at its next meeting, Nov. 13, and to set a date for a public hearing at that time.

In other business Monday, the supervisors:

—Authorized Board Attorney Gerald Gex to see if the original bonds for the Hancock County Fairgrounds building can be extended to pay for a proposed heating and air conditioning project.

—Approved, with regret, resignation of Ray Butler from Peabody River Basin Development District's board of directors and appointed Oscar Moore to succeed Butler.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. Nov. 10.

"We have pumpkins at morning, and pumpkins at noon; if it were not for pumpkins we should be undone."

—From an anonymous poem, circa 1630

From this somewhat grateful, and a bit wry doggerel, we are reminded of the importance of various foods in the survival of America's early colonists - I suppose that's why pumpkin pie has come down through the years as part of our Thanksgiving and other celebrations.

I must confess that I am quite lukewarm on the subject - and the eating of pumpkin pie, despite its historic connections. I much prefer pecan or chocolate or lemon - but, like most of us just now, I'm faced with the problem of doing something about the Jack-O-Lantern after the Halloween festivity is over.

After all, you must have a lighted, glowing Jack-O (not to be confused with Jackie O) to welcome small - and often, not so small trick-or-treaters. And, then what do you do?

I hope that you don't follow the lead of so many - it's sad to see the remains of Jack O'Lanterns along the roadsides or on the trashpiles once the fun's over - that makes this cook, who grew up in the later years of the depression, shudder! And in these "high prices" days, the saving ways of cooks of Depression days surely are of help to the budget, aren't they?

"Waste not, want not" was the theme in the kitchen as elsewhere - and a helpful theme it is.

Incidentally, after I have carved out Jack's face and "insides" I place a small votive type candle, in its glass container, inside to give Jack his "glow" - it's easy to insert in the hollowed-out pumpkin, and easy to take out without that leaving a waxy residue, or a burned lid, as often happens with taller candles.

And, after the children - and grownups - have had their fun, the cook takes over. If you want to bake the pumpkin and puree it for future use, just cut in half. Butter a large cookie sheet, also the cut edges of the pumpkin, and place, skin side up, on the sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for approximately an hour, until tender to the tines of a fork.

When it's cool enough, scoop the pulp out, putting some aside if you want to use it as a vegetable dish (it's a member of the winter squash family). For pumpkin puree for pies and custards, beat in a large mixer until the consistency of applesauce. (I find that a blender takes too long, and a colander or sieve is too messy and troublesome.) If you come across strings, just lift them out. I also find it the better way to go on and mix up the pumpkin custard and freeze it for later use just adding pie shells, as I have found that the frozen pulp doesn't keep too well.

Or, take an easier way out. Baked pumpkin wedges are delicious with pork, as the early colonists knew. Pork was usually available in some form, and was combined with pumpkin and corn and such into stews, made into bread, and so forth.

Here's:
BAKED PUMPKIN
Pumpkin.
Brown Sugar
Bacon drippings
Pepper, salt

Cut into pieces uniform in shape and size for individual servings. Scrape the seeds and strings from each, and arrange, skin side down in a large, shallow dish so that the curved undersurface of each makes a cup. Add a little water to the dish, and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Add to each cup a teaspoon of bacon drippings and a half-teaspoon of brown sugar. Bake at 350 degrees until tender and brown, adding sugar and drippings as needed, and a bit more water if in danger of scorching.

Serve with pork chops or roast or with sausage, and give a brief nod to long-ago colonists!

Interest in business counseling increasing

A decided upturn of interest in business counseling services offered by the Gulf Coast Chapter of the Service Corps of Retired Executives was reported by Lucian Gilbert, who was recently re-elected to a second term as chapter chairman.

He addressed a special fall round-up meeting, kicking off the chapter's new year, on Sept. 26.

"There are several reasons for this upturn," said Gilbert. "The state of the economy has something to do with it. More and more small businesses, and bigger businesses and industries as well, are seeking solutions to growth problems. And it appears that there is an increase in start-ups," he noted.

"Also, we get a gut feeling that more area businesses are becoming more aware of the no-cost counseling service which the Score and Active Corp of Executives arms of the U.S. Small Business Administration provide. Our record of accomplishments is getting more recognition, which means that Score and Ace counselors are doing a good job."

Gilbert cited recent cases where financial, accounting and inventory problems were reconciled.

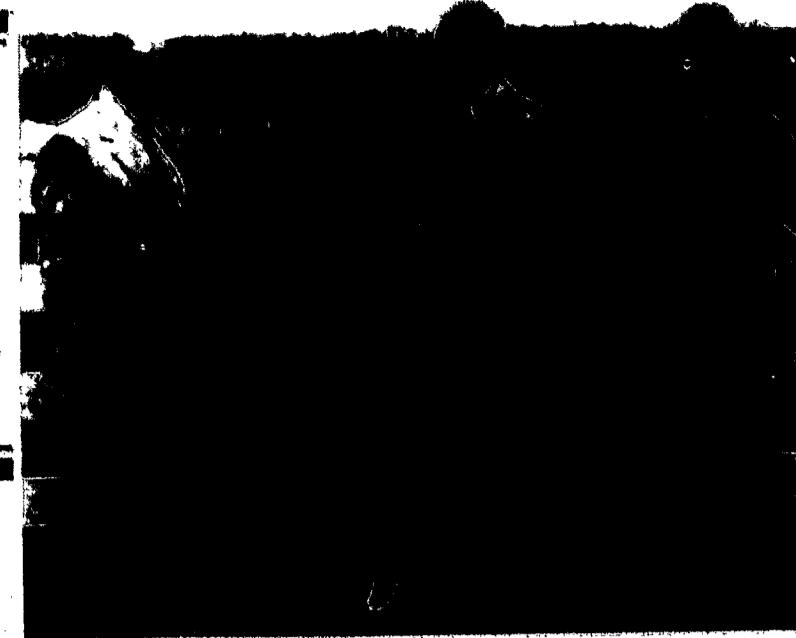

The Gulf Coast/Southern Mississippi Score organization recently helped establish satellite chapter in Hattiesburg, which Gilbert reported is off to a promising start. Other chapters exist throughout the state.

He added that the increasing need and requests for Score services have created a need for additional counselors. There are now 28 on the Gulf Coast Staff, but additional expertise can be used in areas such as computer applications and procurement, for example.

"Undoubtedly there are retired or semi-retired business men and women who would find that an affiliation with Score or Ace becomes an interesting and rewarding avocation," Gilbert concluded.

Businesses in need of counseling as well as retired executives interested in joining the Score organization can obtain additional information by contacting the U.S. Small Business Administration office in Gulfport at 663-4449.

Waveland appraiser earns recognition

Hazel L. Chazez of Waveland has been awarded the professional real estate appraisal designation Master Residential Appraiser (MRA) by the National Association of Master Appraisers, according to Dr. Marvin T. Deane, association president.

The MRA designation was conferred after completion of written examinations and meeting established criteria for qualification. Requirements also include preparation of actual demonstration appraisals.

"Each member of the National Association of Master Appraisers has agreed to subscribe to the highest professional standards of conduct required by the organization's code of ethics," said Deane.

The association designates those members of the real estate profession who have attained a high degree of excellence in the art and science of real estate appraisal.

It also encourages specialized education in real estate appraisal through cooperating schools, to provide the industry with fundamentals courses, educational seminars, and workshops.

Such qualifications are designed to insure the public will have qualified professional real estate appraisal services when a designated member is selected, Deane added.

Waveland Dairy Queen receives award

MINNEAPOLIS—Gordon Huber, executive vice president of operations for International Dairy Queen, Inc., reports the Dairy Queen/Brazier store at US-90 and Nicholson Avenue in Waveland has won a national Quality-Purity Award for maintaining outstanding standards of quality, service and cleanliness.

The Waveland store is owned by William Smith of Pass Christian and managed by Claire Elstrott, Bay Side Park.

The Quality-Purity Award, presented to Smith by American

Dairy Queen Corporation, a subsidiary of IDQ, is awarded to stores which receive an outstanding rating on an evaluation conducted by corporate field personnel.

The Waveland store opened April 1 and takes this prestigious award after only six months of operation.

The evaluation covers more than 12 categories, including general store appearance, product preparation and appearance, sanitation procedures and customer service. The evaluation is conducted without previous notification to store owners.

The Quality-Purity Award is part of the Dairy Queen system's continual program designed to recognize the basics of superior store operation, including quality, value, service and cleanliness, Huber said.

The Dairy Queen store in Waveland is one of more than 4,900 outlets in all 50 states and 14 foreign countries.

Minneapolis-based IDQ is one of the world's largest retailers of fast food and frozen dessert products.

Mississippi receives rental rehabilitation funds

A total of $403,000 from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for the program year 1986 Rental Rehabilitation Program (RRP) will be distributed to local units of government in Mississippi on a competitive basis to upgrade privately owned rental property.

RRP is administered in Mississippi by the Department of Community Development (DCD), Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs. The purpose of the program is to help provide affordable, standard housing for low-income families by supporting the rehabilitation of privately owned rental property.

Twenty-three cities and other urbanized areas are eligible to apply for RRP participation. DCD will conduct a workshop at 1 p.m. Nov. 5 in the conference room of the Federal-State Programs Building, 301 W. Pearl St., Jackson, for eligible communities to explain the program and the application process.

This is the third year of Mississippi's participation in RRP. Biloxi, Clarksdale, Columbus, Greenwood, Gulfport, Petal, Paucagoula and Vicksburg received $1.8 million in funding the first two years.

In the proposed changes are new requirements for registering bicycles and the manner of registration.

The changes also allow for council to set fees for registration, changing registration and replacing plates, tags and stickers.

Also at the meeting the council accepted a bid from Inside, Outside Signs of Gulfport to build and install three highway signs for the downtown business district.

In other business the council approved variance requests by Marion Davis on Easterbrook Street and James and Terry Wyly to enlarge the cubical contents of their lots as submitted for approval by the Bay St. Louis Board of Adjustments.

Inmate escapes Hancock jail on Wednesday

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A prisoner escaped on foot from the Hancock County Jail Wednesday afternoon after making a telephone call.

Hancock Criminal Investigator Alvin Ladner said, "The jailer had brought Rickey Lewis, 32, P.O. Box 204, Waveland, Miss. down to make a telephone call."

"While in the process of making the telephone call, he fled on foot out the front door of the sheriff's office down Court Street," Ladner added.

Lewis was arrested by Waveland Police on July 27 for grand larceny, and was being held in lieu of bond.

He is a black male, 6 foot seven inches tall, 220 pounds, with an Afro type hair cut.

OTHER POLICE ACTION

In other police news, a slot machine was confiscated from the Veterans of Foreign Wars home in Lakeshore on Tuesday by the Hancock County sheriff's office.

Hancock Criminal Investigator Delbert Seay said, the matter of the illegal gambling device is still under investigation, and no arrests have been made as yet.

'Speaking Oracles of God'

By W. Edwin Kearley

"...thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself..." (Lev. 19:18) Jesus restated this command in his platform for Christianity. (Matt. 19:19; 22:37, etc.)

One must have the ability to love himself before he can love another. He who loves himself is one who is aware of his needs. In reality all of man's needs are spiritual.

The author of the science of living is God through the inspired men. The textbook is the Bible. Proper love for self requires one to know God's word to the best of his ability and apply its teaching in all his living. Then he is able to manifest love to his neighbor as he loves himself.

The New Commandment of Jesus involves the extent of his love for us. His command is, "That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another." (John 13:34) How much did Jesus love us? He gave his life's blood on the cross. (John 3:16) His death on the cross is our example. (1 Pet. 2:21-24)

Jesus concluded, "By this (love) shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." (John 13:35)

In the early church was a man named Polycarp. He loved his Lord, the Lord's church and his eternal soul.

He lived in a time of extreme persecution. He was arrested by the heathens in power and called upon to renounce Christ.

"But when the magistrate pressed him hard and said, 'Swear the oath and I will release thee; revile the Christ,' Polycarp said, 'Four score and six years have I been his servant, and he hath done me no wrong. How then can I blaspheme my king who save me?' (The Apostolic Fathers, The Letter of the Smyrnaeans, Pg. 112, Translated and Edited by J.B. Lightfoot, Published by Baker Book House)

May we love as Jesus loved!

Favre concerned about mental attitude

Hawks to battle Warriors for district championship

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The mental attitude of the Hancock North Central Hawks is predicted to be one of the key to the elements in determining if the Hawks will be able to defeat the d'Iberville Warriors in the district championship game Friday.

Hancock Head Coach Irvin Favre says he is worried about the mental attitude of some of the Hawk players.

"We have several starting players who are not nearly mentally ready for this championship game," Favre said Wednesday.

"I believe they still are thinking about last week's game," he added.

Favre said he also felt some players were pretending to be ready for the game to stay off the bench.

"Our main goal throughout this season has been to win the 4-A championship and we have the team and talent to win if the players will get mentally prepared," he said.

"The Hawks have nothing to be ashamed of due to last week's two-point loss to Bay St. Louis. We stayed in the game right until the end and were defeated by a very good team," Favre said.

"But this week is when we play our biggest game, it is this week that we play for a shot at the state title," he added.

"The coaches are ready, I just hope the players will be by Friday," he continued.

According to Favre practice has been okay this week with emphasis on getting what needed to be done.

"We have a good game plan and believe it can work with the right effort from the players," he said.

Favre says another big factor in the game is how well the Hawks will be able to handle the "really strong" d'Iberville offensive and defensive lines.

"The game is going to be won or lost in the trenches," he said.

"If we can't hold their offensive line and block their defensive players, we are not going to be able to win," Favre continued.

"Our backs and receivers are just as good as their players but the offensive and defensive lines are a super strength for them and have been throughout the year," he said.

Favre says experience as size will also be in the Warriors' favor on the lines. Warrior defensive linemen include Johnny Poole, right guard, junior, 243 pounds; Todd Echelberry, right tackle, senior, 246 pounds; Shane Lambert, center, senior, 245 pounds; Stacy Norton, left guard, senior, 246 pounds; Anthony Bosarge, left tackle, senior, 211 pounds; James Griffen, tightend, senior, 206 pounds.

"With one exception, the linemen are seniors and these people basically go both ways," he added.

The Hawks have a 6-3 season record with losses to Picayune and Harrison Central.

"Bob Hardy will be back after running back Larry Hardy fractured his ankle in their third game of the season," Favre said.

"But Hardy will be returning to play this week against us," he added.

Favre said the d'Iberville runs a mixture of plays on offense and the Hawks will have a lot to work against.

"We basically want to keep them from getting the big plays and make them work for whatever they might get," he said.

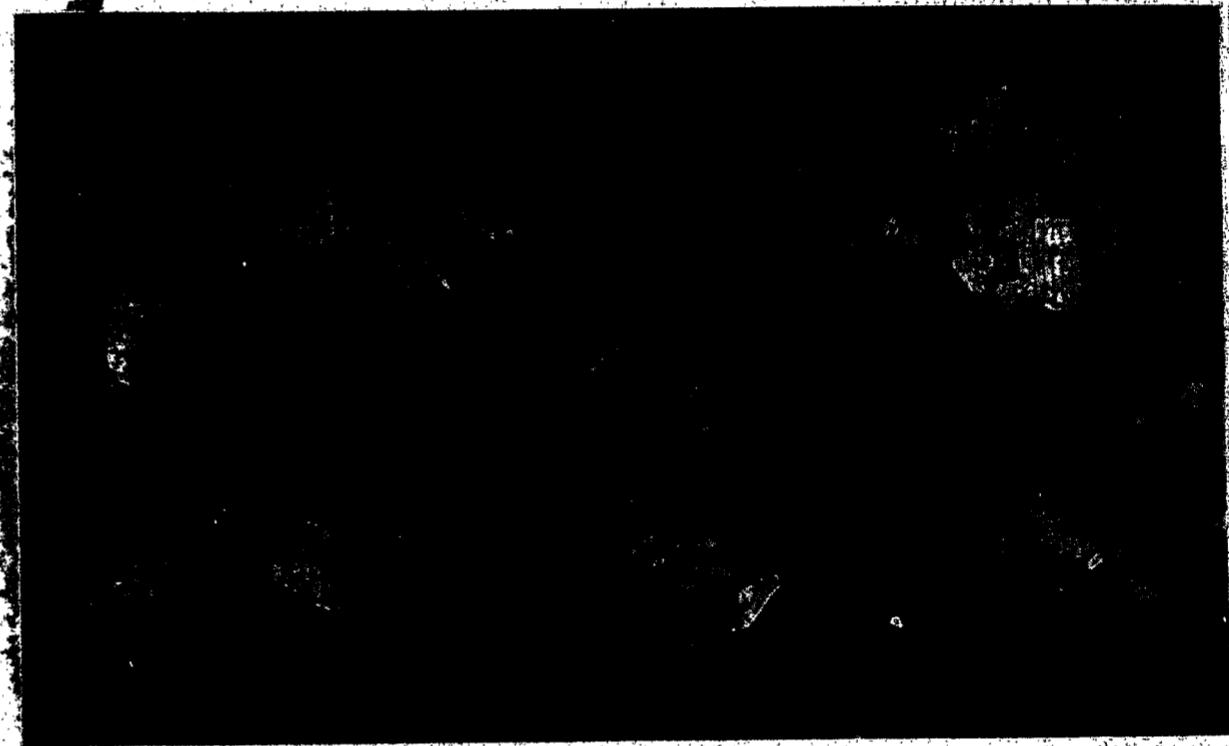

According to Favre, the Hawks should be in good physical condition Friday for the game.

"We can win this game because we have the team to match up with them but we will have to win it mentally," he said.

Favre also said he hopes Hawk fans and the students will be our in full force to support Hancock Friday.

"We need all the support they can give the players," he said.

Kickoff will be at 7:30 p.m.

DEFENSIVE MUSKERS IN— Hancock North Central's Charles Burton finds no place to go as Bay High Tiger's Robert Hargett (6) and Billy Ross (51) make a stop in the Hawk vs. Tigers game last week. The Tigers took a 21-13 victory over the previously unbeaten Hawks. This week Hancock will travel to d'Iberville to take on the Warriors in the District 4-A Championship. The Tigers will visit the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws. Kickoff for both games will be at 7:30 p.m. (Photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Bay, SSC to end season with cross-town battle

BY DENA BISNETTE

Cross-town rivals will clash Friday night as the Bay St. Louis Senior High Tigers and the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws fight for victory in the season's final game for both teams.

If the game goes to the Tigers, who are fresh from a 21-19 victory over the previously unbeaten Hancock North Central Hawks last week, Bay High will win this year's county championship.

"I must say it would be a good feeling to achieve such an accomplishment," Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams said of the annual unofficial championship, which includes Bay, Hancock and St. Stanislaus as contenders.

Although Bay High has been defeated only once this season and St. Stanislaus has suffered several losses, Williams expects a tough game.

"Coach Vernon Powell has a young squad this season. They are making a lot of mistakes that always come with a young football team," Williams said.

"The Tigers will not overlook the Rocks because each year they play our team hardest. We are preparing to play four quarters of hard-nosed football, and not to go out there and take cheap shots at their friends."

According to Williams, the Rocks use a balanced offensive attack. Although the Tigers will have to stop the Rocks at both running and passing, defending against the passing game may prove to be more important.

"The Rocks have quickness and speed in their backfield with Garrett and Shabazz, but both can also hurt us by throwing the ball," the coach said.

"To beat the Rocks, we will have to stop the passing game and #4, a tall receiver. He's their clutch ballplayer."

"Even though the Tigers have a balanced attack, I believe we can stop the run with our defense," he added.

The Hancock North Central game left the Tigers no injured and Amadae Collins, a key player sidelined by illness last week, is expected to be back for the Stanislaus contest.

"We are glad to have Collins return to the squad. He was definitely missed in last week's game," Williams said.

Tiger starters for the Bay High-St. Stanislaus game are expected to include last week's defensive and offensive players of the week, Greg Necaise and Dante Curry.

Williams said making a selection on offense was difficult because so many offensive players contributed to the Bay High's victory.

Curry ran a kick-off back for 95 yards, caught two passes for short yardage and made a key block on Hawk cornerback Charles Burton, creating the hole that allowed Aaron Whavers through for a 31-yard touchdown that secured a Tiger victory.

Necaise edged out Jerry Island for outstanding defensive player by two tackles, with a total of 16. He also assisted the Tigers' Danger Zone defensive secondary by helping to contain the middle underneath zone, Williams said.

The number of assisted tackles for the game averaged from seven to 16 per player, the coach added.

Probable offensive starters include Dwayne Robertson, quarterback; Mark Haverty, fullback; Brian Lemoine, running back; Andrew Collins, wingback; Dante Curry, split end; Robert Hargett, tight end; William Ross, center; Necaise and Island, guards; and Georgia Carter and Courtney Laureys, tackles.

The defensive is expected to include Island and Amadae Collins, tackles; Carter and Hargett, ends; Haverty, weak-side linebacker; Necaise, middle linebacker; Ross, strong-side linebacker; Wayne Karl, strong safety; Britt Woods, free safety; and Curry and Quentin Bell, cornerbacks.

Williams said he was pleased by the attendance at last week's game and hopes to see a good turn-out Friday.

"Having the fans present with their cheering really made our young men rise to the occasion," he commented.

Gamedate is 7:30 p.m. at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

PASS DEFENSE—Pass Christian's Mike Montjoy (11) looks to pass during the Hawks' 21-19 victory over the Hancock North Central Hawks in last week's game. The Hawks' defense, led by Mike Hart, held the Hawks to 14 points and forced three turnovers.

CEHS wins in Florida

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders came up with their best effort of the year against a very good Stewart Street Academy team in Miami, Fla., and walked away with a 47-6 victory.

The Raiders put together a complete game offensively and defensively to dominate a team they had lost to in a skirmish at the beginning of the year.

Coastal offensive line members, including linesmen for Mike Montjoy, Vicki, and Iberville, and Mike Hart, had started to build up 600 yards rushing.

The Raiders opened the scoring onslaught in the first quarter and held a 13-6 lead. In the second quarter the Raiders poured it on and held a 30-6 lead at the half.

The outcome of the game was never in question once the Raiders scored on their first possession in the second half and tacked away two scoring drives by the Conquerors inside the 10-yard line.

Offensive standouts were Victor Marquez with 106 yards rushing and 16 yards receiving, Sterling Tidwell with 76 yards rushing and 10 yards receiving.

The Raiders finished the game yards rushing. Rea Montjoy had 53 yards and Chris Riesgo had 26 yards on pass receptions. Mike Hart, at quarterback, rushed for 30 yards and passed for 173 yards on 14 attempts.

Defensively, it was a well rounded effort by the whole team with Mike Hart leading the way with 12 tackles and Henry Hart with six.

The Raiders complete their season this Friday at home in Pass Christian against Stewart Street Academy in a 4:30 p.m. kickoff at 1:30 p.m. Come prepared invites parents, friends and friends of the school to attend the game and support the team.

SSC Junior Varsity blasts St. John 18-6

Good hitting, an aggressive defense, and break-away speed were the main ingredients in St. Stanislaus Junior Varsity's 18-6 victory over St. John last Monday evening.

The ballgame was only three minutes old when SSC halfback Gino Ascari broke through the St. John defense for a 78-yard touchdown run. The extra point was no good and the Rocks led 6-0.

SSC's defense was on the field for only one series of downs, forcing St. John to punt. The Rocks took over their second offensive possession at their own 18-yard line and drove down to the St. John 4-yard line before a stray Rockachaw pass was intercepted by the Eagles in the end zone.

Big chunks of yardage were gained by SSC's hard running backs:

Jorge Ponjuan popped for 38 yards, Kyle Primeaux ran through the middle of St. John's line for 18 more, and Gino Ascari contributed a 17-yard blast after being sprung by Ponjuan's fine block on the St. John defensive end.

Each time St. John would begin to mount a drive, the SSC defense would rise to the occasion.

Right cornerback Gary Ponthieux intercepted a St. John aerial with 3:09 left in the first half and returned it to the St. John 49-yard line.

After the Rocks were unable to move the ball and had to punt, left defensive back Jorge Ponjuan intercepted with :08 left on the clock in the first half.

The Rocks enjoyed a 6-0 halftime lead.

SSC took the second half kickoff but could not pick up a first down. St. John fielded the punt and managed to pick up two first downs before their drive stalled.

Both teams traded offensive possessions. With St. John facing a fourth and eight situation, they punted to deep back Gino Ascari who fumbled the punt in the Rockachaw endzone. The ball was recovered by St. John after a scramble for it in the endzone. With the score tied at 6-6, Noah Daspit blocked St. John's extra point attempt.

St. Stanislaus came right back to take the lead on their next possession as quarterback Shannon Garrett led the Rocks into Eagle territory. The drive was capped by Jorge Ponjuan's 43-yard sweep around right end. Following Ponjuan's touchdown run, the extra point was no good and the Rocks led 12-6 with 6:47 left in the game.

St. John began to march, driving

46 yards on six plays. Their drive ended when safety Freddie Wirstrom intercepted an Eagle pass on the SSC 13-yard line.

It took the Rocks only three downs to hit paydirt for the third time of the evening as Jorge Ponjuan broke three tackles and scampered 80 yards for the final score. A mishandled snap from center busted the extra point try and the Rocks led by 12 points with 1:31 left in the game.

Both benches freely substituted at this point, giving all team members a chance to play. Time expired with SSC on top, 18-6.

Head coach Vernon Powell said, "We came out fired up. Even though we had a few letdowns during the game, we came back strong."

Coach Rod Herring credited excellent running by Jorge Ponjuan, Gino Ascari, and Kyle Primeaux as the highlights of the game. Coach Herring stated, "It was a total team effort with everyone giving 100 percent."

Preceding the Junior Varsity contest was a 7th and 8th grade game which St. John won 12-0. The SSC coaches credited Galen Smith, Sal Palomino, Jade Pitre and Mickey Quinlan with outstanding efforts throughout the game.

Eagles to host Cajuns

HATTIESBURG—USM's Golden Eagles return home from a long road trip to Greenville, N.C., to host a strong Southwestern Louisiana Ragin' Cajuns team Nov. 8.

The record book shows 36 previous meetings between the two institutions, the second longest rivalry in Southern Mississippi history. The series started in 1923 and the Golden Eagles hold a healthy 27-8 edge.

Last season, head coach Jim Carmody's team posted a 38-16 victory, and Carmody is 3-1 against the Cajuns. In addition to last year's victory, the Eagles won 36-0 in 1982, 31-3 the following season and dropped a hard-fought 13-7 decision in 1984.

Southwestern all-star candidates include running back Dwayne Williams and receiver Dana Herrick on the offense and lineman Joe DeForest and safety Steve Judice for the defense.

Quarterback Andrew Anderson continues to lead the USM offense with plenty of help from tailback Vincent Alexander, receiver Lyneal Alston, and kick returner Andrew Mott.

Spearheading the Nasty Bunch defense are linebackers Sidney Coleman and Onesimus Henry who lead the team in tackles.

Saturday's game can be heard on the Golden Eagle radio network with John Cox handling the play-by-play and former Golden Eagle quarterback Vic Purvis doing color commentary.

Tickets to the Southwestern Louisiana game, and the remaining games against Florida State (in Tallahassee, Fla.) and Louisville (home) remain on sale at the athletic ticket office located in Green Coliseum. Tickets may be purchased there or ordered by telephone by calling 601/266-5418 or by using the in-state toll-free number, 1-800-222-1605.

Wildcats win to close season at 7-3

POPLARVILLE—The Pearl River College Wildcats ended a successful 7-3 season Saturday night by defeating Southwest 17-13 at Dobie Holden Stadium.

The Wildcats finished with a South Division record of 4-2, good for a second place tie with Gulf Coast Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs advance to the state playoffs, however, by virtue of a 9-7 win over the Wildcats earlier this year.

The Pearl River defense, led by Roy Wayne Jones (14 tackles) and Greg Amacker (13 tackles), saved the game as they stymied the Bear offense twice inside the Wildcat 10 in the second half.

The turnover bug struck PRC once again as the Wildcats lost three fumbles on their side of the field.

The Wildcats scored the game's initial points in the first quarter as quarterback Scott Favre hit receiver Anthony Robinson for a 27-yard touchdown. Joey Tatum added the PAT.

Southwest, 3-6-1, tied the game in the second period as Michael Hodges barreled in for a one-yard TD.

The Wildcats went ahead for good in the third quarter as Gerald Tillman scooted in for an 8-yard score. Tatum added the PAT along with a 30-yard field goal in the final period.

Darrell Pounds hit Dale Faulk for a 6-yard TD for the Bears' other score.

Running back Thurrian Geathers led the Wildcat offense with 109 yards rushing on 20 carries. For the season, Geathers had 803 yards putting him in third place on the all-time rushing list for a season.

ing Ricky Floyd for first place at 109. Mott's career return yardage, 1,120, leads all USM punt returners and he has three games remaining to increase that total.

Ole Miss and Mississippi State togetherness will reach a peak in Jackson Friday, Nov. 21, when several hundred alumni from the two universities gather for a luncheon at the Coliseum Ramada Inn. Sponsored by the alumni associations of the two schools, this third annual luncheon precedes the traditionally fierce gridiron competition between the archrivals.

The luncheon highlights a week of events proclaimed annually as Ole Miss-State Week by the governor. The events are designed to promote a cooperative spirit between the academic units of the schools and focus on their teaching and research accomplishments.

As host of the game, Ole Miss will also serve as luncheon host this year, with Chancellor R. Gerald Turner presiding. Featured addresses will be made by Dr. Turner and Mississippi State University President Donald Zacharias.

Tickets for the noon luncheon at the Coliseum Ramada Inn are available for $12 each from alumni association offices at the two universities—325-2434 at MSU and 232-7375 at Ole Miss. Attendance is limited to 400, with each institution allotted 200 tickets.

Gov. Bill Allain will sign a proclamation Nov. 14 declaring Nov. 16-22 Ole Miss-State Week. MPC and MSU team up on redfish research

New Orleans Chef Paul Prudhomme's blackened redfish recipe is just one of the reasons the crimson-finned seafood has gained extreme popularity nationwide.

But diminishing catches in the Gulf of Mexico have hiked prices charged for the tasty dish and may cause extensive bans on commercial harvesting.

The redfish dilemma has led the Warmwater Aquaculture Center of Mississippi State University to seek Mississippi Power Company's assistance with a five-year, $500,000 aquaculture research project to examine commercial production of the troubled redfish.

Scheduled for operation this November, a research facility and several outdoor ponds at Mississippi Power Company's Plant Watson in Gulfport will be the site of some leading research on speeding up the production of redfish in a man-made environment.

"While the farming of seafood may seem to be a unique area for an electric utility to be interested in, the redfish research project stands to have a significant effect on the state's economy," said Theron Furr, MPC's coordinator of the redfish project. "Because electricity sales are closely tied to the economic health of the state, it is natural for us to be involved with the project."

Furr said the project calls for a large section of land and a constant supply of warm water, which are both available at the company's electric generating plant.

The research goal is to condense the time it takes redfish to grow to at least one and a half pounds from about 18 months to one year. And researchers want to determine the feasibility of raising redfish in inland areas, similar to catfish farming.

In natural settings, young redfish stop growing during winter when the water is cold. By keeping young redfish in warm water, researchers hope the fish will continue to grow year round. Mississippi State researchers have determined that for redfish aquaculture to be profitable, a one and a half pound redfish must be produced in one year.

To begin the cycle, mature redfish will be bred in tanks where temperature and lighting are controlled to make sure spawning takes place in October.

The eggs produced will be removed and placed into hatching tanks. Next, the larvae will be placed in saltwater nursery ponds and left to grow for 30 to 40 days.

Around December, warm water will be pumped through the ponds to stimulate growth of the young fish, called fingerlings.

They should reach an advanced fingerling size of at least six inches around March and will be stocked into one of 24 outdoor ponds to continue growing until November when they should weight at least one and a half pounds.

Mississippi State plans to sell the resulting mature redfish to test the marketability of pond-raised redfish.

Research has already shown redfish can grow in fresh or brackish water once they reach the fingerling size, so farming would not be limited to coastal areas. Data will also be collected on the optimum level of stocking density and nutrition for commercial production.

"I see aquaculture as one of the brighter opportunities in Mississippi," said Dr. Warren Thompson, Dean of Mississippi State's School of Forest Resources. "And the adaptable nature of redfish adds to their attractiveness as a commercially produced seafood."

The Warmwater Aquaculture Center at MSU is considered to be a leader in commercial fish production research because of their involvement with Mississippi catfish farmers.

Mississippi leads the nation in aquaculture with farmers bringing in annual revenues of more than $200 million from the production of 250 million pounds of catfish.

Mississippi Power Company and MSU officials believe the Warmwater Aquaculture Center's research can help redfish farming follow a similar path.

"The implications from this research are tremendous," said Furr. "Mississippi is in need of new business opportunities and Mississippi Power Company is proud to sponsor a project with such promise."

Q. Will long-term use of marijuana make my husband sterile? He has been smoking marijuana for several years now. Will his use make it difficult for me to get pregnant? (C.K. Meridian, MS)

A. This question had been asked before, but it is an important one, so I will address it again. Studies show that men who are marijuana users have lower levels of testosterone than non-users and that the sperm count in a young adult diminishes as marijuana use increases.

As for women smoking marijuana, it can affect the menstrual cycle. Studies suggest that regular marijuana use may reduce fertility in women.

Furthermore, marijuana smoking mothers run a higher risk of their baby being born with birth defects than a non-marijuana smoking mother.

Q. Why is cocaine such a dangerous drug? (L.E. Pickens, MS)

A. Cocaine is a dependence-producing drug. People use cocaine repeatedly because they like its effects and can get to the point of centering their lives around it.

The dangers of cocaine vary from individual to individual depending on how the cocaine is administered and the dosage taken.

In some people, cocaine may create psychological problems. High dosage use over a long period of time may make a person become paranoid or experience what is called a "cocaine psychosis."

This may include hallucinations of the senses (touch, sight, taste, or smell).

There are physical dangers also involved with cocaine use. Occasional use can cause runny or stuffy nose, while chronic use can cause sores on and in the nose, as well as pit or erode the cartilage.

When injecting cocaine, users run the risk of getting hepatitis or other infections caused from using unsterile equipment.

Overdose deaths can occur when cocaine is injected, snorted, or smoked. Deaths are a result of multiple seizures followed by respiratory and cardiac arrest.

If you would like to ask a question, address it to Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, P.O. Box 550, Jackson, MS 39205.

Chamber names student directors

The 1986-87 student directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce have been announced, according to Chuck Benvenuti, chairman of the chamber's education committee.

"We feel these representatives, who were selected by their respective schools, will be a tremendous asset to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce this year," said Benvenuti.

Those named are Margaret Lizana, Hancock North Central; Ginger Gilmore, Coast Episcopal High School; Jennifer Cote, Bay Senior High School; David Bourgeois, St. Stanislaus; and Alicein Schwabacher, Our Lady Academy.

Margaret Lizana, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lizana of Hancock County, is a senior at Hancock North Central. She is a member of the Beta Club, the tennis team, the 4-H Club and served on the yearbook staff her junior year.

Jennifer Cote, 17, is a senior at Bay Senior High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H.

The student directors will receive honorary membership in the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and will attend meetings of the board of directors to enable them to become more familiar with the workings of the chamber in the community.

Cote of Waveland. She currently serves as president of the Student Council, Varsity Bowl Quiz captain, president of the co-ed "Y" Club and a Youth Governor's aide.

Cote has also been president pro tem of the Senate during Girls' State, a member of the yearbook and newspaper staffs, the Alpha honor roll, the Ole Miss Chancellor Leadership Class and placed in the VFW speech contest and the American Legion oratorical contest.

Pet Corner

Whether your dog is scheduled to spend a week in a kennel or a few days with the neighbors, it could easily come down with a widespread, contagious disease, called canine cough.

Canine cough is the common name for infectious tracheobronchitis, an upper respiratory disease that starts as a slight, dry, hacking cough, and often develops into a severe cough accompanied by retching, sneezing and nasal discharge.

The two main infectious organisms that cause canine cough—the Bordetella bronchiseptica bacteria and canine parainfluenza virus—are spread through the air from dog to dog, much like the common cold is transmitted among human beings. Canine cough is also known as "kennel" cough because dogs may contract it at boarding kennels. But the kennels shouldn't be blamed for spreading this highly contagious disease. Dogs can also pick up canine cough at grooming parlors or other places where dogs are in close contact—even from the neighbor's dog.

While mild cases of the disease run their course in a week to 10 days, more severe bouts are accompanied by fever and decreased appetite and behavior, and could develop into pneumonia and result in permanent lung damage. Antibiotics and cough suppressants can be used to control the disease's symptoms, but these treatments can get expensive.

To prevent unnecessary suffering and widespread outbreaks of the disease, pet owners should have their pets vaccinated once a year—preferably with a "live" vaccine that goes to work within 48 hours. A few drops of the live vaccine in each nostril provide onset of protection within 48 hours, so your dog can be vaccinated just a few days prior to kenneling and still be protected against canine cough. If you are kenneling your pet, don't take any chances. The disease is so common that no one can predict when it will strike.

HONORABLE MENTION—Jean Van Peek of Bay St. Louis took an honorable mention award for her painting "Back of Buccaneer" (lower palming) in the recent 24th annual Membership Exhibition of the Slidell Art League. The show was judged by impressionist Robert M. Rucker of Louisiana. Van Peek also holds memberships in Ocean Springs Art Association and Pearl River Art Association. Her work can be found in private collections, businesses, financial institutions, professional offices and in the homes of individuals in Picayune, Slidell and along the Mississippi Gulf coast.

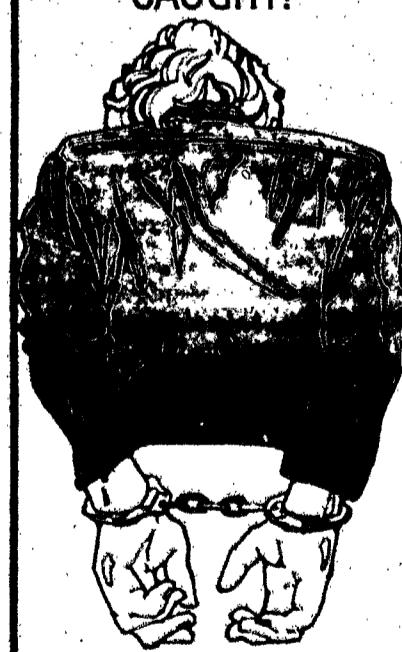

THE PRESIDENTS—Dolores Davis, left, of Diamondhead, first vice president of the Hancock County Republican Women's Club, presents a book entitled "The Presidents" to Hancock County Library System Director Prima Wrenack. The book was presented to the Kilm Branch Library.

Your pocketbook The New Delchamps has help—with pricing that's absolutely lower on every item, every day. It means we're doing business in a whole new way. A more honest way.

It's called Everyday Minimum Pricing, and it means Delchamps customers have already discovered they have the minimum total food bill every week. That's because we've introduced

EVERYDAY MINIMUM PRICING ABSOLUTELY LOWER PRICING!

S.M.

At the New Delchamps we don't have weekly specials. We don't have double coupons, games or gimmicks—they just keep your total food bill high. We DO have pricing that's absolutely lower on every item, every day. So you get the minimum total food bill. Every week.

Pass Christian was named in the honor of Christian Ladner.

Franklin Cuevas is a fifth generation member of the Juan De Cuevas family.

He and his wife are the parents of one daughter, Judith Ann McFerren of Glen Ellen, Ill.

The author states that much of the history of Cat Island, Juan De Cuevas, and Christian Ladner was gathered from individuals and old court records.

Many of the records were destroyed when the Hancock County and Jackson County Courthouses burned in the mid-1800's.

Franklin Cuevas arrived at Cat Island at the age of 20 from Andalucia, Spain in 1782.

He married Helen Ladner (Ladner), daughter of Christian Ladner, and raised 11 children on Cat Island.

Franklin Cuevas said the city of

The publication printed and published by Dixie Press was released on Thursday.

Franklin Cuevas spent some five years gathering information for the publications.

The book on the life of Juan De Cuevas, hero of the War of 1812, is dedicated to his descendants and heirs.

"It has been my life's ambition to publish this book, and I am hoping to have a second printing very soon," the author commented.

AUTHOR'S PICTURE—Franklin Cuevas of Gulfport has published a book titled "Life History of Juan De Cuevas" and history of Cat Island and Life of Christian Ladner. He has worked five years gathering and compiling the information. The author's family in this photo taken circa 1894 includes his parents, seated, Roman C. Cuevas Jr. and Catherine Georgia Cuevas; also seated are twin sisters Nellie Cuevas Ladner and Nellie Cuevas Neilson; family standing from left, are Amelia Cuevas Cross, John Cuevas, Nellie Cuevas Jones, Francis Cuevas, Franklin J. Cuevas, author; George L. Cuevas, Caroline Cuevas Lott, and Nicholas Cuevas. The family resided at Sollers Community in Hancock County before moving in later years to Gulfport. The family is the fourth and fifth generation of Juan De Cuevas.
